Graduation Message

I congratulate all the 2015 graduating students for completing the requirements of basic education and attaining the dream of their parents for them. My desire is for all of you to use the fundamental competencies you have gained to become better citizens, to help your family and to get involved in the endeavors of the community and the country at large.

This year's theme, "Saktong Buhay: Sa De-kalidad na Edukasyon Pinanday" features the significance of education in building a respectable future for the Filipino Youth. The government through the Department of Education provides all effort and sufficient financial support to polish the 21st century skills among Filipino graduates. The objective is for them to actualize their life goals not only for themselves but also for service to the less fortunate. As the saying goes, "We are blessed to be a blessing to others".

My sincere felicitations to the parents, teachers, administrators, and stakeholders who worked hard to help these graduates realize their full potential in order for them to contribute meaningfully to nation building.

God bless.
